

What were the three most positive points about the virtual learning modules?

Good insight on NEC4. Interesting details on different aspects; course was easy to follow through, slides were read at a nice steady speed, Info prior to the CDM regs 2015

Good use of industry examples ; Explained clearly different levels and responsibilities of duty holders; Excellent links to reading material Informative, concise, useful

Easily understandable Simple language Well presented

Simple language Adequate length Clear demonstration

Good level of detail, good use of case studies and good reference to the manual.

Comprehensive, succinct and included visual aids.

Being able to pause and take in the relevant information; Easily accessible; Covered key points

You can stop and start the course as you wish within a deadline; The assessment at the end to test knowledge; The real case files to show real life examples

"it provided a lot of information ; it took you through step by step; you could easily go back to look through the information "

Interactive, clear, good information; the content; easy understanding; good pictures

the information pictures and tests

the minigame, examples, completeness.

Everything was clearly presented; Easy to access other modules; All valuable information

Invaluable information and learning, beneficial to use in my daily role

Learning to use L153, learning in my own time and when suitable for me, easy to follow and understand with clear diagrams

Raised confidence and awareness. Easy to follow.

I now have a better understanding of contracts; Better understanding of responsibilities; Course was informative.

Emphasis on Collaboration and Communication; Greater Focus on Health and Well-being; Clearer Roles and Responsibilities

Giving examples of each issues which we're relevant to a range of difference elements within the industry.